

Eighteen associations have been recognized with an Award of Excellence in the second round of judging for the 2008 Associations Advance America (AAA) Awards program, sponsored by ASAE & The Center for Association Leadership. These entries were submitted by the March 7, 2008 deadline for submissions.

Now in its 18th year, the AAA Awards recognize associations and industry partners that improve the quality of life in America with innovative programs in education, skills training, standard setting, business and social innovation, knowledge creation, citizenship and community service.
